THE FAMILY ORCHARD.

Good wholesome fruit is an important essential to the health of mankind, but the prices we have to pay for it at times make it a luxury with many people. Fruit supplies much of the mineral food needed by our bodies. Every well balanced ration of food includes fruit or fruit products in some form with each day's meals and is a very delectable diet. The old adage "An apple a day will keep the doctor away", while not literally true, signifies the importance of eating apples of some other variety of fruit daily; but it should be remembered that fruit allowed to reach the stage of maturity before being harvested has a much better flavor than fruit that is harvested before maturity then ripened by chemical or other artificial means.

Wherever fruit trees will grow and produce fruit there should be, at least, a small orchard adjacent to each rural home whether it be occupied by the owner or by a tenant. Some are ready to say this cannot be done because of the carelessness of many of the tenant farmers; but the writer takes the position that it can be done and done profitably when the people really desire it and decide to have it. The care of the orchard can be made a part of the consideration between the owner and the tenant at the time of renting.

Most rural homes in Texas are so situated that the expense of installing all the modern conveniences is too great to justify the undertaking under present environments, but the expense of a small orchard, compared with the beneficial results, is so little that anyone can easily afford it. One crop of fruit from the small orchard is worth more than the initial expense of it, to say nothing of the satisfaction realized from having fresh, mature, home-grown fruit at only a nominal expense.

The following is suggested as a good selection for a small family orchard: Peaches—Arp's Beauty, Mamie Ross, Elberta, Leona, and Chilow, four each; Plums—Advance, Happiness, Wickson, and Golden Beauty, two each; Grapes—Carmon, Delaware, and Ellen Scott, two each; Figs—Magnolia, Brown Turkey, and Celest, two each; Pears—Bartlett and Keiffer, two each; Blackberries—Austin Mays, 100; Dewberries—Dallas and Lawton, 50 each.

An orchard of the above selection should afford a succession of fruit from June first to September first and enable the housewife to preserve sufficient fruit to last the family until the next fruit season, and there would be almost positive assurance that there will be fruit of some kind every year in such an orchard. The amount of land required for the orchard would be less than one-half acre, and the initial cost of the trees and vines need not exceed $30.

Bureau of Markets.

STATE LIBRARY TO LOAN LITERATURE.

Rural and small town residents may borrow about 500 biographies from the State Library, Austin, for payment only of transportation postage.

"Some Notable Men and Women" is the title of a mimeographed list, which is now being distributed by the State Library, giving the name of the subject of the biography, the author, and the date of nearly 500 biographies in the State Library. The purpose of this list, Miss Octavia F. Rogan, State Librarian said, is to let residents of the State know definitely what biographies have been borrowed. In the past inquiries have had to be told that the Library either did not have the requested titles or that they were too rare to be circulated.

A copy of the list "Some Notable Men and Women", with rules for borrowing the books listed may be obtained gratis by writing the Texas State Library, Austin, Texas.

POSTED.

I AM THE FARMER.

I am the provider for all mankind. Upon me every human being constantly depends.

A world itself is built upon my toil, my products, my honesty.

Because of my industry, America, my country, leads the world. Her prosperity is maintained by me; her great commerce is the work of my good hands, her balance of trade springs from the furrows of my farm.

My reaper brings food for today, my plow brings promise for tomorrow.

In war I am absolute; in peace I am indispensable—my country's surest defense and constant reliance.

I am the very soul of America, the hope of a race, the balance wheel of civilization. When I prosper men are happy; when I fail all the world suffers.

I live with nature; walk in the green fields under the golden sunlight; out in the great alone where brain and brawn and toil supply mankind's primary need, and I try to do my humble part to carry out the great plan of God. Even the birds are my companions; they greet men with sympathy at the new day's dawn and chum with me till the evening prayer is said. If it were not for me the treasures of the earth would remain securely locked; the granaries would be doomed speedily to extinction or decay. Through me is produced the energy that maintains the spark of life.

I rise with the early dawn and retire when the "chores" of the world are done.

I am your friend.
I am the farmer.

GOOD REASONS FOR TAX REDUCTION.

Among the industries which suffer most heavily from taxation is lumber production. John W. Blodgett of Grand Rapids, Michigan, says two things are essential to increased prosperity, "the practice of thrift and economy in government and a change in federal taxation. Federal income taxes must be reduced to the point where ordinary business investment will be as attractive as investment in non-taxable securities. Death taxes must be either abolished or reduced to a point where they will not force a man to withdraw money from his business and put it into marketable securities at the time of his ripest judgment and powers."—Ex.

ESSENTIALS OF SUCCESSFUL FARMING.

Absolutely essential for producing crops successfully are:

First: Fertile soil adapted to the growth of the crop planted.

Second: Water sufficient to moisten the soil and keep it moist.

Third: Intelligent labor and the Laborer's knowledge of the manner of cultivation.

These three constitute indispensable requisites for successful farming. No effort should be spared to place and to keep the soil in proper condition and to keep it so all the time. The soil should be prepared as well as selected judiciously for adapting it to the growth and production of the kind of crop chosen for cultivation. It should be worked almost indefinitely.

For the greatest number of crops and particularly for grain of all kinds, a rich chocolate colored, sandy loam is absolutely the best of all for cereals, as well as most other crops that thrive best when planted in such soil. Black, sticky ground, devoid of sand, is, as a rule of less utility than any other, except soil comprised exclusively of sand, or clay. When clay forms the subsoil, where sandy loam is planted, it holds the moisture longer than where there is no such subsoil.

Continuous cultivation, likewise, tends to preserve and retain the moisture and the more intensive the stirring of the ground and keeping it so stirred better the result achieved by the farmer.

Too, intensive cultivation, however, saps the fertility of the soil in proportion to the intensity of the culture. This necessitates fertilization and renewal of fecundity by means of artificial commercial or other fertilizers, or to be more explicit, such fertilizers as have to be mixed into it with cultivation, or plows. Such fertilizers must be selected and used with good judgment and must be placed into the soil and allowed to remain there some time previous to the planting of the seed of the crops to be grown.

Some contend that land should be allowed to lie fallow for some time after its fertility has been sapped, but this, as a rule, is not the part of wisdom. Fallow land usually produces weeds that continue to sap its strength. Likewise shrubs and trees sprout and spring up, rendering its subsequent cultivation much more difficult and expensive than if continuously cultivated and judiciously kept fertilized, except for the short period essential for the fertilizer to place the ground in proper condition to renew cultivation.

Water, or irrigation, may be obtained for it with the natural rainfall, wherever it is adequate, which obtains in some localities, but, as a rule, all natural irrigation has, at least periodically, to be enhanced by artificial means; principally by water drawn from flowing streams, or from wells by wind mills, or other means of pumping.

Some crops, particularly fruits, and especially figs, should always be accessible to artificial irrigation. Figs should always be grown on the banks of flowing streams, or irrigation ditches, or dykes.

Wisdom should be exercised in irrigating. Too much moisture is almost as harmful as too little. The condition of crops will, as a rule, indicate whether they are receiving sufficient moistening or not. Likewise their condition is likely to show when they are getting too much. But it is easier to remedy the evil of too little moisture than too much wherever the available supply is adequate and can be properly controlled.

Good judgment and intelligence is absolutely essential to the cultivation of any and all crops. No person man or woman, can be a successful farmer who does not possess the knowledge, and the right kind of knowledge, and use it in connection with cultivating the soil and crops such person is devoting attention to. This attention should engross such farmer's mind.

But the next great and absolute essential is the labor it is necessary to devote to the task of farming.

Wherever possible, it is much better for the farmer to devote his or her own entire efforts to such cultivation.

Wherever this is impossible, or impracticable, it is essential that his hired or tenant help possess the necessary intelligence to successfully achieve the necessary results. The owner should always, wherever possible if he or she possess the practical knowledge supervise the cultivation. The laborer, whether the owner, or hired hand or tenant should never flag, or falter in the work.

All engaged in farming should read and study agricultural literature during their rest periods and familiarize themselves with the proper course to pursue to intelligently cultivate the crops they are engaged in raising.

Before engaging in farming, it would be the part of wisdom for the prospective farmer to attend an agricultural educational institution, or at least read and study a series of articles, or lectures, on the subject relating to such cultivation as he should propose to engage in.

Such procedure is very apt to result in success.—Southwest Farmer and Investor.

In 1925 Chevrolet astonished the automotive world by attaining an annual production never before reached by any manufacturer of gearshift automobiles.

Yet, so spectacular has been the increase in demand for Chevrolet cars, that a new and even more brilliant record is the climax for 1926.

Thus, for two years in succession, Chevrolet has broken all its previous records and has set a new mark in automotive history.

This splendid achievement results from a steadfast adherence to the fundamental Chevrolet policy of building a car of the finest possible quality to sell at a low price.

That the vast majority of buyers now demand a car of this type—and that Chevrolet has been successful in building such a car—possessing the highest degree of smooth performance, smart appearance, and economical operation—is proved by Chevrolet's success during the year now drawing to a close. Come in and see this record-breaking car.

LUTHERANS INSTALL RESIDENT PASTOR AND DEDICATE NEW PARSONAGE.

Runge has a new resident pastor.
He is Rev. G. E. Grueber, pastor of the Runge Lutheran Church, having been installed into that position last Sunday before one of the largest congregations ever assembled at the local Lutheran Church.

By a vote of the congregation
Rev. Grueber, formerly of Hondo, was called as pastor here several weeks ago, but only came to Runge
the latter part of last week.

Some time ago the Lutheran Ladies Aid Society took it upon themselves to build a new parsonage to be ready by the time of the arrival of the new pastor. That they succeeded in their undertaking was evidenced by the fact that the new pastor had a new parsonage to move into upon his arrival in Runge.

The new pastor was installed Sunday morning, Rev. E. A. Sagebiel of Yorktown officiating. The choir of the Yorktown church assisted in the service. Besides Rev. Sagebiel and the choir, a great number of the members of that church were here for the occasion. Alfred Brieger rendered a trombone solo and Mesdames Brieger of Runge and Jauer of Karnes City sang a duet.

After the installation services the congregation went out to the church lawn where a barbecue dinner awaited them. Long tables, laden with plenty of everything good to eat awaited the hungry congregation.
At least three tables of diners were served.

After the meal there were several talks made by visiting ministers and laymen. At 2:30 p. m. the new parsonage was dedicated by Rev. Sagebiel and Rev. Grueber the ceremony consuming most of the afternoon.

In the evening Rev. Anderson of the Beeville Lutheran Church preached for the congregation. Among the visiting ministers who were here during the day were: Rev. J. Schroeder of Karnes City; Rev. Anderson, of Beeville; Rev. A. T. Kluge of Nord-heim and Rev. E. A. Sagebiel of Yorktown.

Too Much "Acid?"

Excess Uric Acid Gives Rise to Many Unpleasant Troubles.

AUTHORITIES agree that an excess of uric acid is primarily due to faulty kidney action. Retention of this toxic material often makes its presence felt by sore, painful joints, a tired, languid feeling and, sometimes, toxic backache and headache. That the kidneys are not functioning right is often shown by scanty or burning passage of secretions. Thousands assist their kidneys at such times by the use of Doan's Fills—a stimulant diuretic. Doan's are recommended by many local people. Ask your neighbor!

DEATH OF MRS. CLAOMA BERRY IN SAN ANTONIO.

Death came Saturday night, Nov.
6th, of Mrs. Claoma Berry of San Antonio. She had been in failing health for several months, therefore her death did not come as a shock to her relatives.

She was married to Charles Berry on Oct. 12, 1921. Since then they have lived the greater part of this time in Hondo and San Antonio and Shreveport, La.

She was 30 years of age at the time of her death and is survived by her young husband, Charles Berry, a father, Joe Taylor, of Beeville,
two sisters and two brothers, Mrs.
Maud Guinn and Ellis Taylor of Bee-ville and Mrs. Lessie Williams and Ramsey Taylor of Wister, Okla.

Services were held in the M. E.
Church of Beeville by the pastor, Rev. M. K. Fred. Interment was in the Beeville cemetery Monday,
Nov. 8th at 3 o'clock.

The grave was a bank of beautiful flowers which showed the esteem her many relatives and friends held for her.

Those out of town who attended the funeral were: Mrs. J. H. Berry, Lola, Raymond and Travis Berry, J. W. Hall and children and Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Berry, all of San Antonio, Mrs. Harold Dodd of Langtry, and Mr. and Mrs. Herman A. Miller, Jr., and baby, Maxine, of Robstown.

CARD OF THANKS.

We take this means of thanking the public for its generous patronage of our Dinner and Bazaar at the Rest Room last Saturday.

Respectfully,
THE CATHOLIC LADIES.

Nervous hot flashes

"Some time ago when in a very nervous, run-down condition," says Mrs. Martha
F. Marlow, of Broken Bow, Okla., "I tried numerous remedies to try at least to keep going, but I could not. I was weak and tired—just no good at all. My back ached and I had hot flashes until I was so very nervous I smothered."

"I couldn't sleep and I was never hungry, and I kept getting weaker. I couldn't stand on my feet. This was an unusual condition for me as I had been pretty strong all along. I knew that I would have to do something, and that pretty soon."

"Some friend suggested that I take Cardui, and it certainly was a good suggestion, for after taking one bottle I could tell I was stronger and better.
I didn't quit. I kept it up all through the change and did fine. I felt like a different person after I began taking Cardui."

Cardui has helped thousands of suffering women.

THE LAST NOVEL
Ever Written By
GENE STRATTON-PORTER
Just Starting in McCall's
Shortly after this beloved novelist's sudden death nearly two years ago, Mrs. Porter's daughter found among her mother's papers the complete manuscript of a novel—"The Magic Garden"—a romance as delicate, as whimsical, as satisfying as that last fiction success, "The Keeper of the Bees."
And now "The Magic Garden"

A TONIC

Grove's Tasteless chill Tonic restores Energy and Vitality by Purifying and Enriching the Blood. When you feel its strengthening, invigorating effect, see how it brings color to the cheeks and how it improves the appetite, you will then appreciate its true tonic value.

Grove's Tasteless chill Tonic is simply Iron and Quinine suspended in syrup. So pleasant even children like it. The blood needs QUININE to Purify it and IRON to Enrich it. Destroys Malarial germs and Grip germs by its Strengthening, Invigorating Effect. 60c.

No Worms in a Healthy Child

All children troubled with Worms have an unhealthy color, which indicates poor blood, and as a rule, there is more or less stomach disturbance.
GROVE'S TASTELESS chill TONIC given regularly for two or three weeks will enrich the blood, improve the digestion, and act as a General Strengthening Tonic to the whole system. Nature will then throw off or dispel the worms, and the Child will be in perfect health. Pleasant to take. 60c per bottle.

THE DAIRYMAN'S CALENDAR

As a progressive Dairyman desiring to secure maximum profits from my milk herd, I realize the necessity of adhering to an organized schedule of care, feeding and handling.

AVERAGE MILK PRODUCTION PER COW IN DIFFERENT COUNTRIES

Country	Average Milk Production (Thousand Pounds per Cow)
NETHERLANDS	~6.5
SWITZERLAND	~6.0
UNITED KINGDOM	~5.5
DENMARK	~5.0
GERMANY	~4.5
CANADA	~4.0
UNITED STATES	~3.5
SWEDEN	~3.0
HUNGARY	~2.5
AUSTRALIA	~2.0
JAPAN	~1.5
ITALY	~1.0
CHILE	~0.5

Taking inventory, I have decided that pure milk is better than purified milk and that I want not more cows, but more and better milk from each cow.

Any cow in my herd suspected of being a border or otherwise lacking in necessary qualifications shall undergo a fair, but thorough test. What I want on my herd must come back to me at a profit.

My first step should be the selection of a true type herd— a selection which should always command great care and good judgment.

During the hot months, whenever possible, I shall scrub my herd with a cool, clean, outside rinsing place, where they may chew their cud in peace and ruminate on the blessings of being a parasite.

Proper selection of dams also will bring its own rewards in more milk, better milk and better animals.

A dirty condition like that pictured here shall never prevail in my herd. Rather than scrape, curry and brush endlessly, I shall clip and quickly clean thoroughly by wiping with a damp cloth.

The comfort of the animal is important. Thorough cleaning aided by periodical clipping about flanks, udders and underlines during stable months and all over the body when turning out in the spring shall be part of my program. Clean animal, clean milk with low bacteria count.

A clean, bare, plentiful bedding, water at the station and no milking within an hour of feeding are all part of the program which I shall enforce rigidly.

Year	Number of Associations
1910	~100
1911	~150
1912	~200
1913	~250
1914	~300
1915	~350
1916	~400
1917	~450
1918	~500
1919	~550
1920	~600
1921	~650
1922	~700
1923	~750
1924	~800
1925	~850

The growth in the number of cow testing associations convinces me that membership in one is a good thing. I pledge my association full support and co-operation.

The dairy or creamery that buys my milk must value quality and sanitation as much as I do. They must carry on from the point beyond which I have no control.

Proper feeding is essential. Therefore I shall always provide a carefully balanced ration to my herd, as well as a plentiful supply of pure, clean water.

Then when my milk is bottled I shall know I am repaid for my efforts. I shall get more milk and more money for my milk and the gospel of clean and better milk shall spread throughout the land.

O some may sing of Paris and some may sing of Rome,
And some may sing of far-off isles, where wild waves break and foam;
And some may tell of wonders in the ports of seven seas—
But give me a country cottage and the wind among the trees

O some may tell of turquoise seas, of trade winds, reefs and isles,
And praise the tropic beauties where the sun forever smiles;
And some may sing of wonder lands beyond the setting sun—
But give me a country twilight when the evening work is done.

I wouldn't trade the corn fields and the meadows and the lane,
And the orchard and the garden, bright with sun or wet with rain,
For the Oriental splendor or the purple southern seas—
For they'd be strangers to me and I'm a part of these.

No Engine Fumes in Buick closed cars

In the 1927 Buick, the new Vacuum Ventilator pulls engine fumes and gases from the crankcase and ejects them outside the car.

This vital new Buick improvement does away with noxious odors. It adds greater luxury and pleasure to enclosed car operation.

The Vacuum Ventilator serves another very important purpose. It prevents crankcase vapors from condensing and diluting the oil. Owners of 1927 Buicks are advised to drain their crankcase oil only 4 times during the year.

For luxury, and for economy, own a Buick.

The third annual community Fair comprised of Shookville, Black Creek, Redus, Murphy, and Biry schools was held at Biry November 18th, 1926.

The Fair was a great success of amusement and attendance, there being close to seven or eight hundred people present.

Mr. Balmos' orchestra and Mr. Teel of Devine furnished a radio to furnish the affair with music for the afternoon and night.

The play given at night was a complete success, all characters in the play deserving credit in making it so, as they portrayed their parts to perfection.
